

PSYCHOLOGY

(328)

Time : 3 Hours]

[Maximum Marks : 100

Note :

(i) This Question Paper consists of two Sections, viz., 'A'

(ii)

SECTION –A

1. What are the two main process through which development occurs?
2. what is the name of the stage in growth curve where growth slows down?
3. Identify the age at which the brain attains mature size.
4. Name any two abnormalities which can occur due to some gene combinations in humans .
5. Give an example to illustrate 'chunking'.
6. Name an inventory you can use to test personality of an individual.
7. in which situation conflict resolution is the best?

Win-win; win-lose; lose-lose

1. Calculate mean for the following scores:
2. which lobes of cerebral cortex are responsible for your visual and auditory information?
3. What is concept learning ? Give an example of concept lerning.

4. What is concept learning ? Give an example of concept learning.
5. Differentiate between positive and negative transfer of learning with the help of examples.
6. Can changes due to development be quantitative in nature also? Illustrate with examples.
7. Why do we use statistics in psychology?
8. Neena has inherited her mother's blue eyes and Ashok, his father's curly hair" Explain with reference to the concept of heredity.
9. What is concept ? Explain the two types of concept with examples.
10. What are essential criteria of psychology tests?
11. Socio-cultural factors are important sources of environmental influences on development . Comment.
12. Differentiate between id, ego and superego.
13. What do you understand by projective tests ? Give details of any one projective test.
14. Define group . Write about the four stages of group formation.
15. What is goal conflict? Explain the four types of goal conflict with suitable examples.
16. Define psychology. Explain any two psychological perspectives.
17. " Memory not like a tape recorder which simply records and plays whenever we demand ." Elaborate this statement differentiating between human memory and tape recorder.
18. Define development . Write about any four principles of development.

19. What is conformity? How are obedience and conformity related?